

Raising Money for Power Adjustable Seat Height

At present, not all insurance companies cover power adjustable seat height. At Quantum Rehab, we believe that safe seat elevation is simply revolutionary and provides unique benefits that will enhance your mobility and your independence. Some consumers have turned to fundraising to absorb the cost of safe seat elevation. One approach to fundraising is called “crowd funding” where people in need of help reach out online to request support from a large group. One such program, GoFundMe.com (not affiliated with Quantum Rehab in any way) works like this...

7. Figure out who will be in charge of the money for your campaign. Choose either yourself, a close friend or relative.

Who will withdraw the money?

Not sure which is right for you?

Even if the campaign is for a close relative or friend, select 'Myself' if you will be withdrawing the money raised.

Raising money for someone else?

If you select 'Someone Else', you will remain in control of the campaign, but the money you raise will be sent to the person you enter on the next step.

Still not sure?

If you don't want to decide now, you will have this option throughout your campaign. Click here to decide later.
